

Four new Trustees join the Third Age Trust Board

Four new Trustees join the Third Age Trust Board

The Third Age Trust is delighted to announce new Trustees for West Midlands, East Midlands, Wales and London

The Third Age Trust is delighted to announce four new Trustees are joining the Third Age Trust Board.

The Board oversees the Third Age Trust, which is the u3a national body that looks after all the u3as in the UK, providing educational and administrative support. There are twelve Trustees, each of which is a u3a member and represents a different region or nation.

After an election process in which each u3a in the relevant region was able to vote, we are delighted to announce four new Trustees:

A woman looking at the camera

Stella Morris, from Tower Hamlets u3a, is the new Trustee for London

Jean Jackson, from Lichfield u3a, is the new Trustee for West Midlands

John Lewis, from Bingham u3a, is the new Trustee for East Midlands

Karen Green, from Flintshire u3a, is the new Trustee for Wales

There will be more information on each of these Trustees in the coming months in the u3a movement's monthly newsletter. Sign up to keep updated.

See all current Trustees on the u3a Board of Directors page.

The u3a movement is made up of members who want to learn something, new friends and share their skills with each other. Join u3a.